SARGENT & LUNDY ANNOUNCES EXECUTIVE RETIREMENT AND BUSINESS GROUP DIRECTOR APPOINTMENT

Sargent & Lundy announced that Executive Vice President Thomas J. Murray retired at the end of the year after more than 40 years with the company. Murray was Director of the company's Power Delivery Services business group. Senior Vice President Thomas R. Eisenbart has been appointed Director of Power Delivery Services. Eisenbart has been with Sargent & Lundy for 29 years and most recently was Assistant Director of PDS.

"During his distinguished career, Tom Murray has devoted his expertise as an engineer, manager, and group executive to our transmission & distribution clients, and he has been a close friend and trusted colleague to many people here and throughout the power industry. He truly will be missed," said Bud Wendorf, Chairman and CEO of Sargent & Lundy. "At the same time, we're pleased to have someone as widely respected and capable as Tom Eisenbart to take over this significant part of our power business. We are looking forward to a seamless transition."

Eisenbart is a Registered Professional Engineer. He received his BS in Electrical Engineering from Valparaiso University and his MS in Electrical Engineering from the Illinois Institute of Technology. He is a member of IEEE.
